PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCILS -Board o Aldermen .- Last evening the board met, Mr.

Vice President Clark in the chair. Mr. Borrows, rising to a question of privilege, corrected a misapprehension of a portion of his remarks on the last night the Board met, when he was reported as having alleged that the $60,000 of corporation debt to which he had alluded on that occasion, was created by the last municipal administration. It was not his intention to generate this impression. as that debt was the old and general debt of the corporation. Mr. B. proceeded to defend himself at some length against an anonymous at:ack upon himself, as he conceived, in the American Or gan, wherein he was charged with uttering the sentiments of an infidel. He denied having said what was laid at his door, and explained his views on christian doctrines at some length. claiming the right, as a citizen, to believe what his conscience told him to be correct, always respecting the ministers of the gospel as they deserved to be respected.

Mr Magruder reported back from the finance committee a bill for the relief of W. W. De Maine, appropriating $100, to reimburse him in that amount, expended on corporation surveys in the last sixteeen weeks.

Mr. Pearson proposed a substitute for this bill, allowing and directing the Mayor to audit and pay the claims of the said De Maine Mr. Magruder held that it would be imon the Mayor; and that this was the first time any such account for extras was presented against the corporation. He went over the history of the surveyor's office, showing that up to the time when Mr. Ball came into that office the salary of the surveyor was but $600 per annum. Mr. Ball was allowed an as istant at $600, and now an unusually large sum in addition was demanded, it also being said that the claim was $127 larger than the bill

Mr Pepper held, that if he was to be ex pected to pay his as istants and laborers out of his $600 per annum, his own compensation would be very small indeed. He himself had called on him to make extensive surveys and estimates, which he had made, at heavy expense for assistants and laborers, for which the corporation should pay.

Mr. Magruder, rejoining, held that Mr Pep. per was mistaken in believing that greater labor was thrown upon the Surveyor than when | no doubt of that obligation. Mr. Elliot held that position; and that it was the duty of the chief city Surveyor to furnish his chief assistant all assistance required. He did not object to paying this bill; but to its general reference to the Mayor, who should not have thrown upon him any such responsibility. He was opposed to voting money blindly, the evils of which he explained. Mr. Pepper corrected Mr. Magruder; holding work since Mr Elliot's days; explaining how common it was to call on the Surveyor for extra work in the way of estimates, &c. Mr. Houston advocated the enactment of the bill as it had been reported back, being op posed to voting money except in specific sums. Mr. Pearson again urged that the whole sub-Mr. Magruder (on consultation with Mr.

De Maine) moved to amend the bill by making its appropriation $177, instead of $100; amendment agreed to; and, as amended, the said bill passed. Mr. Houston reported back from the committee on unfinished business, a bill making an alley in square 494; referred to committee on improvements. Also a communication from the Mayor in relation to the decision of the Circuit Court in the case of Holroyd vs Pumphrey, affecting Corporation tax sales; referred to the finance committee.

Mr. Magruder reported back from the committee on finance a bill making the salary of the city surveyor $1,000 per annum; passed. Mr Marks presented a petition of B. P. Smith and others for paving the south front of square 808; referred to the committee on improvements.

Mr. Pepper reported back from the committee on improvements, the bill changing the name of the alley in square 722 to Carrell Mr. Fitspatrick moved to lay it on the table same committee the bill amendatory of the act requiring the center of alleys and gutters | market; passed to be paved with hard brick, without amendment. Mr. P. explained that this bill only changed asylums of Washington from taxes, with a substitute therefor. The Chair read the said substitute, providing that the taxes on all the property absolutely used for orphan asylum purposes, should be charged to and paid for out of the general fund. Mr. Fitspatrick explained that they were at present only exempt from taxation by sufferance, not by law, and it was desirable that they should be legally exempt from taxation; some apprehended that in time to come, demand for back taxes would be made upon passed, as follows: them, and this bill was to guard against any such contingency upon the regularly incorporated asylums, the two-the Protestant and Catholic-asylums of the city. After unimportant amendment, the said bill was then passed.

Mr. Reed reported back from the committee on the fire department, a bill authorizing the purchase of additional hose for the Anacostia and Columbia fire companies; passed.

Corporation, &c , in the American Organ Mr. Borrows opposed its enactment, being opposed to spending the Corporation's means in any such manner. He was also not inclined to that journal, as it had taken to making war on the conscientious religious opinions of some of the citizens of Washington. He thought, too, that the American Organ had not yet thrown off its allegiance to Queen Victoria. He could make an allowance for its errors, having been, when a young man, led off to be intelerant in matters of conscience; and he had experienced the evils of indulging in such sentiments. All churches in this country had done and are doing good, and he sincerely regretted to find a disposition to get up a war of Presbyterian Church, though slimly attended, churches here, and was against aiding and abetting any such war out of the finances of This was mainly attributable to the introduc-

Mr. Pearson objected to giving the Mayor authority to audit and pay the account. He wanted the appropriation made specific. Mr. Magruder explained that this indebtedness arose out of a definite contract, and that its amount was therefore specific. Mr. Fitzpatrick said that the bill had been rendered, amounting to $166 10. Mr. Magruder moved to amend the amen d-ment by making the appropriation for Mr. Thompson $166 16, as being in full of all demands for printing.

He explained, further, that the bill in question was exceedingly moderate, and could be recovered by law. He was for promptly paying it, and thus " saving the Corporation's credit, as well as its bacon.

The Chair argued that the $100, originally appropriated, was to cover all charges for publishing the proceedings, laws, &c., in the Intelligencer and News.

Mr. Fitzpatrick explained that this account was such as had always been paid, no objec-tion had ever before been made to the payment of such bills.

Mr. Clark moved so te amend the amend ment, as to express that the payment was in full for all claims of Mr. Thompson against the Corporation on account of printing. Mr Houston was opposed to paying any

Mr. Magruder explained the history of this had come up from the lower Board without the regular appropriation for the Washington News. The skrimmage was, however stopped by the energy of some gentlemen, who sprang from a passing carriage, and pulled and hauled for a short time among the combatants. The affair was fortunately over before a large crowd collected.

A Model Sprech.-Kunkel, the star singer, was called before the curtain last night for a speech, when he said, in a manner that would have graced Demosthenes: "Ladies and gentlemen, we give our eighth entertainment in this house to morrow evening;" which was received in the most rapturous manner.
